

More Games Children Play

We can also read stories written a long time ago. These words are from a journal. A 12-year-old boy wrote this journal entry. He used his journal to write down what he did each day. What did he and his friends do for fun?

"Fred and I were flying his kite tonight."

"I stopped by the swings after school."

"Bessie and Walter skated a long while on the roller skates."

"We went out to play baseball."

Children in the past played games at home and at school. Looking at the photograph, can you tell what games these children played?

What games do you play? What toys are your favorites?
